

Clark Kent

clark.kent@dailyplanet.com | 555-938-2355 | Metropolis, NY | github.com/clarkkent | linkedin.com/in/clarkkent

EDUCATION

- B.A. in Journalism, Metropolis University, Metropolis, NY 1989 - 1993
- Coursework: Investigative Reporting, Media Ethics, Political Science
 - Honors: Valedictorian, Editor-in-Chief of The Metropolis Courier
- High School Diploma, Smallville High School, Smallville, KS 1985 - 1989
- Awards: Most Likely to Save the Day, Star Quarterback

EXPERIENCE

- Senior Investigative Reporter, The Daily Planet, Metropolis, NY Jan 1994 - Present
- Broke over 200 front-page stories on organized crime, government corruption, and alien phenomena with a 100% accuracy rate.
 - Frequently first on scene for major incidents despite never appearing to leave the office.
 - Maintains exclusive sourcing relationship with Superman, the only journalist to do so.
- Junior Reporter, The Daily Planet, Metropolis, NY Jun 1993 - Dec 1993
- Covered local Metropolis beat including city hall, crime, and community events.
 - Nominated for a Kerth Award in first six months, an unprecedented achievement for a junior staffer.

PROJECTS

- LexCorp Exposé, year-long investigation into illegal weapons contracting and financial fraud Mar 2002 - Apr 2003
- Obtained and verified 4,000+ pages of classified internal documents through undisclosed sources.
 - Story led to federal indictment of three LexCorp executives and $2B in recovered public funds.
- Alien Integration Index, data analysis of extraterrestrial population trends in urban centers Sep 2020 - Dec 2020
- Scraped and merged census data with anomalous incident reports across 15 major US cities.
 - Published findings prompted congressional subcommittee hearing on ET civil rights legislation.

SKILLS

Investigative Journalism, Shorthand Typing (220 WPM), Fluent Kryptonian, Excel, Disguise (Glasses)